LIQUOR SELLER GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER FELON IN PITTSBURG TERROR REIGN BACK IN FOLSOM

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Now that an invention has been perfected to release the crews from wrecked submarines, nations are planning to abolish them altogether. The submarine is no doubt a dangerous weapon in time of war and a dangerous plaything in time of peace. The value of the submarine as a fighting machine, however, will probably prevent it from being scrapped altogether.

Every day more things are learned about flying. The experiment recently conducted by the navy in which a glider was released from the dirigible Los Angeles, will prove of real commercial value in the not far distant future.

Mexico indulged in one of its normal inauguration parties Wednesday. The president and other victims are expected to recover.

Scientists now plan to go up to meet the eclipse of the sun. A total eclipse of the sun for a portion of the state is to take place late in April. One scientist has already made arrangements to charter a plane, ascend 15,000 feet in the air and shoot pictures. His contention is that pictures taken at that height will eliminate dust and smoke. If the experiment is a success it should add to the knowledge of astronomers.

Times don't change so much. "Spiritual conditions in Gold Run are none too good," a minute book belonging to the old Methodist church of that once prosperous mining center says. The record was brought to light recently when an attempt was made to raze the old landmark. The fight was taken to court and the old house of worship will continue to stand as a reminder of former days.

Even fire drills become boring. But things can be done to brighten up even this routine. It took 10 minutes for the Junior College of San Mateo to be emptied recently during a fire drill. The time was considered too long by officials in charge. The next time things were different. At the same moment that the drill bell was sounded smoke was shot through the ventilating system. It required only 30 seconds to empty the building the last time.

Some day we may have a law against it. Well, we have to put up with it. We refer to the motorist who seems to be interested in practically everything but the street while driving his car.

The worst offender no doubt is mother who insists on fixing Johnny's hat or adjusting Mary's dress as she drives along through traffic.

At least eleven incidents of this nature were noted at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue in the course of a few minutes yesterday.

And some men become so engrossed in lighting a pipe, cigar or cigar that their automobile shimmies from one side of the road to the other.

Motorists will learn some day that the driving of a car alone is a full size job that cannot be interfered with by other events.

Slaying Charge Reduced In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—UP—The charge against Major Owen Bird, sportsman, accused of shooting to death his "best friend" Percival G. Watson, during a family argument, was ordered returned to manslaughter in municipal court today. The district attorney's office had attempted to press murder charges. Bail was set at $10,000.

WILL SPEND LIFE IN PRISON

MARTINEZ, Feb. 6.—Elmer "Jack" Helms, paroled Folsom prisoner, was taken back to the penitentiary by Deputy State Parole Officer Ed Prendergast today. Helms will spend the balance of his life behind prison bars.

That Helms, who was captured last night after spreading terror in Pittsburg and seeking to murder two city executives, was convicted with his brother the late William Helms, for murder, was revealed this afternoon.

It was revealed that in 1905, Helms and his brother were convicted of the murder of William and Sarah Hayes in San Joaquin county during a holdup. William Helms died several years after his conviction.

Helms had a good prison record, it was said, and was paroled after he had served 13 years.

Helms was reticent when questioned this morning and would only say, "I tried to get me to sign some papers yesterday and I wouldn't do it. It's a long story and I may tell it later."

Yesterday, Helms, who was employed by the Pittsburg water company as a pump tender, ran amuck and held Robert L. Hecke, superintendent of the water company, a prisoner for several hours. When Hecke broke away from Helms, the latter fired several shots at him.

Later, Helms barricaded himself in his house and held off 20 peace officers for more than an hour, only to surrender after a tear gas bomb had been thrown into his room.

He was brought here and held over night until taken to Folsom.

Joseph R. McCabe, giving his address as 2415 Telegraph avenue, Oakland, was badly confused last night. In the first place McCabe desired to return to his home in Oakland but was trying to flag a car going in the opposite direction at Garfield boulevard and Macdonald avenue. In the second place McCabe not only picked on a machine going in the wrong direction, but the wrong machine.

Allen J. Cundy, desk officer of the Richmond police department happened to be riding down Macdonald avenue in his car. Cundy nearly hit McCabe who was in the center of the car track, according to the officers report.

Cundy turned his car around and returned to where McCabe was standing. According to the police report McCabe became abusive. After Cundy had unwrapped his six feet plus from around the steering wheel and confronted McCabe the latter changed his mind about his own fistic prowess.

Cundy placed McCabe in his car and took him to the police station where the prisoner was booked on a charge of being drunk.

But trouble had only started. McCabe was locked in a cell with Frank Mendez, serving ten days on a drunk charge. The two cell mates weren't at all chummy. Officers in the station heard what sounded like a cyclone coming from the McCabe-Mendez cell. They arrived in time to see Mendez getting the worst of an argument with McCabe. McCabe was given a nice quiet cell all by himself and will face Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning. A charge of battery may be placed against him in addition to the drunk charge.

HOUSE ACTS TODAY ON DRY LAW TRANSFER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—UP—The first radical change in prohibition enforcement since the Volstead act went into effect 10 years ago reached the house floor for debate today. The bill transfers enforcement from the treasury to the justice department, and it will be passed tomorrow.

Dean Roscoe Pound, of Harvard Law School and the Hoover-Wicker sham crime commission, went to bat before a house committee in defense of the commission's plan to substitute commissioner hearings for jury trials in prohibition cases.

In the senate, Senator Wagner, dem., N. Y., one of former Gov. Al Smith's close friends, took up the jury-trial subject and charged President Hoover and the commission were "frittering away" our constitutional rights, and dodging the abuses of enforcement. Wagner's speech was regarded as an attempt to nail Hoover as a "dry" — a point that might hurt him in some states politically. He quoted Hoover's early campaign statement.

Sheriff Seeks Target Range

MARTINEZ, Feb. 6.—A target range and ammunition for sheriff's officers, provided by the county, will probably be proposed to the board of supervisors soon, it was indicated today.

Sheriff R. R. Veale said that he would look for a suitable site, and if one can be located near here he will submit the proposal to the board.

The officers here are without range facilities and those that do engage in target practice find it necessary to supply their own ammunition.

Roller Moved From Lawn In Front Of House

Two trucks tugged and pulled for more than two hours before they removed a gasoline street roller from the front yard of the Charles Stockard home at 179 Jordan avenue yesterday. The roller landed in the yard after a wild ride down the hill.

The City of El Cerrito sent a carpenter and mason in the Stockard home to repair damage caused by the roller which ran away with its driver, Fred Begerow, on Wednesday afternoon and crashed into the house.

The roller was undamaged except for a twisted steering spindle it was reported by garagemen.

FACING TEN YEARS IN PRISON

MERCED, Feb. 6.—UP—George Hodder, 43, Oakland wholesale liquor dealer, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in superior court here tonight, after a deliberation of four hours.

Hodder was arrested five weeks ago, two weeks after Roy Deane Ebert, local business man had died from drinking gin containing wood alcohol and formaldehyde.

District Attorney Frank M. Osterlander, traced the liquor from a truck driver Clyde Sousa through a local tobacco company operator, Joe Goldman to Hodder. Sousa testified he took the gin from Goldman's basement and went on a party at the home of Carleton "Dummy" Wells along with Ebert and others. Next day Ebert was found dead in the home of the former all-American football player.

Goldman admitted on the stand he had bought two cases of gin from Hodder and store it in his basement.

The verdict came as a surprise. Mrs. Hodder who was in the court room with her seven year old son became hysterical.

Hodder will appear for sentence Monday morning with judgment probable of from one to ten years in prison.

CHARLES ERB HURT IN CRASH

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Feb. 6.—UP—Charles Erb, former University of Idaho football coach, was seriously injured in an automobile accident two miles north of Grants Pass today. He was thrown through a window of his machine when it left the road in a dense fog.

Dr. C. J. Moser, who was called to attend the former California football star, said Erb suffered wrenched muscles which may result in paralysis.

The accident occurred when Erb swerved his car to avoid striking a truck he was following in the fog. Two companions also were thrown from the car but escaped injury.

Mabel Normand Has Transfusion

MONROVIA, Feb. 6.—UP—A blood transfusion to aid Mabel Normand, film comedian, in her fight against tuberculosis was performed at the Pettenger sanitarium today.

The transfusion was pronounced successful by Dr. Walter Brem, of Los Angeles.

It was said that Miss Normand has been showing some improvement of late, but that her condition still is serious. There is no indication when she will be able to leave the institution, where she has been confined for the last year.

EIELSON DAZED, WANDERED FROM PLANE WRECK, THEORY

JUNEAU, Alaska, Feb. 6.—UP—The belief that Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic pilot, was dazed by the crash of his airplane in northern Siberia and wandered around aimlessly until he was exhausted was expressed here today by an expert in aviation, Maj. A. K. Deakard.

Major Deakard, an executive of the Fairchild company, was leader of an expedition that came to Alaska from Seattle with three planes to aid in the search for Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland.

Mobilization Planned By Boy Scouts FINAL PLANS FOR EVENT MADE

Richmond Boy Scouts will mobilize here during the week of Feb. 8 to 15, according to plans discussed by the mobilization committee last night at a meeting in Scout headquarters.

The exact day, hour and place of the mobilization are known only to members of the committee and R. E. Cox, local Scout executive.

According to Cox, not one member of the Boy Scouts will know when the mobilization will take place or where.

Some time during the week, which is Scout Anniversary Week, a telephone call will be made to Richmond Scoutmasters instructing them to organize troops and meet at some spot within the city limits.

Scout leaders estimate that within an hour all troops of the city will be ready to search the city for a "kidnaped child."

Final details of the plans are being worked out by the committee.

All Richmond troops will hold themselves in readiness for the signal.

Last year the local troops mobilized at the Lincoln school grounds on a Saturday afternoon and rapidly set up equipment to take care of an imaginary disaster.

City officials highly commended the local Scouts for their work during the day.

Music Teaching Methods At Local High Win Praise

The music department at Richmond Union high school was visited recently by Ernest L. Owens, former director of the San Francisco bay section of the high school orchestra and chorus committee of California, and now instrumental director at the Tamalpais high school of Mill Valley.

Owens expressed his approval of the methods employed at the local high school in the teaching of music.

The committee of which Owens was chairman last year arranged the program presented last May in Oakland by a picked orchestra of 250 high school musicians of the bay area. Richmond Union high school was represented in this orchestra by Madeline Whitteley, cellist, and Grace Olney, violinist. The local high school orchestra is directed by George Morris.

TAFT HELD IMPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—UP—Physicians attending William Howard Taft said tonight that his condition was better than at any time since he returned, seriously ill, from Asheville, N. C., two days ago.

A bulletin by his physicians, Dr. Francis R. Hagner and Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, was issued at 7 p. m. tonight. It said:

"The chief justice has taken more nourishment and shows a more decided improvement than at any time since his return to Washington."

Taft held his own during the day while the senate took the unusual action of adopting a resolution expressing hope for his recovery.

Senator Blease, dem., S. C., voiced the first suspicion of the supreme court's change of leadership by telling the senate that there was "something crooked" about Taft's sudden resignation this week, followed so closely by the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes in his place. Blease expressed hope the judiciary committee would return the Hughes nomination and the senate would call on Hoover to reappoint Taft.

The senate resolution, proposed by Senator Heflin, dem., Ala., and adopted without debate, said:

"Resolved that it was with deep regret that the members of the senate learned of the serious illness of former Chief Justice Taft and it is hoped that he will soon be restored to health."

A senate passed delivered the resolution, signed by Vice President Curtis, to the Taft home.

Bandit Makes $5100 Haul

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—UP—A bandit armed with a revolver escaped with $1100 in cash and $4000 in checks here today after holding 11 employees of the Weber Baking company at a distance and forcing the cashier to open the safe.

FORDTRAN IMPROVING.
Word from Mrs. Robert Fordtran, 472 Twelfth street, states that her husband, who is in the Santa Fe hospital at Los Angeles, is improving nicely. Mrs. Fordtran is at her husband's bedside.

20 ARRESTED IN PLOT ON RUBIO LIFE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—UP—Daniel Flores, young intellectual, who wounded President Pascual Ortiz Rubio with a bullet that missed the jugular vein by a half inch, and injured six other persons after yesterday's inauguration ceremony, defeated all attempts of police today to link his act with a widespread plot against the life of the new president. The youth maintained the contention of his original confession that he acted alone as a self-appointed emissary of death.

With the bullet removed from his jaw, Ortiz Rubio was reported resting comfortably at his home. He had no fever and physicians predicted a speedy recovery. His wife, with her scalp grazed by a bullet, and his niece, Maria Roldan, by flying glass, moved about the house today. Of the four others arrested, three were held on charges of being accessories.

Senator Blease, dem., S. C., voiced the first suspicion of the supreme court's change of leadership by telling the senate that there was "something crooked" about Taft's sudden resignation this week, followed so closely by the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes in his place. Blease expressed hope the judiciary committee would return the Hughes nomination and the senate would call on Hoover to reappoint Taft.

The senate resolution, proposed by Senator Heflin, dem., Ala., and adopted without debate, said:

"Resolved that it was with deep regret that the members of the senate learned of the serious illness of former Chief Justice Taft and it is hoped that he will soon be restored to health."

A senate passed delivered the resolution, signed by Vice President Curtis, to the Taft home.

Father Kills Tot In Mother's Arms

MARION, Ind., Feb. 6.—UP—Robert Crooks, 25, shot and killed his eight month's old baby here tonight while his wife held the infant and then attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat.

He was taken to Grant county hospital where he was expected to die.

Relatives attributed his action to despondency caused by recent illness.

Activities At Local Waterfront
The steamer Golden Sun of the O. and O. line will dock at the inner harbor tomorrow morning to load a cargo of oils for Australia. Yesterday the steamer Manhattan Island of the Redwood line unloaded a cargo of pig-iron at the inner harbor and left for San Francisco.

The Golden Rod of the O. and O. line docked early yesterday morning and will load oil for Australia for the next three days.

CARQUEZ ARRIVALS

OPTIMISM VOICED AT MEET

LONDON, Feb. 6.—UP—A wave of optimism swept the five power conference tonight when it became known Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson would propose tomorrow a reduction in battleships, an American sliding scale, equality with Great Britain in cruisers and an "overall" agreement with Japan not based on a flat ration for all classes of warships.

Premier Andre Tardieu of France conferred with Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain tonight presumably to discuss the proposal.

In Japanese circles the feeling was expressed that the Stimson proposal to give America 18 large cruisers instead of the larger number previously insisted upon would furnish a definite basis for future negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—UP—Secretary of State Stimson informed President Hoover tonight he would advise the five power conference tomorrow of his proposal for scrapping from two to eight battleships in 1931, British and American combined, and to fix American cruiser strength at 327,000 tons compared with 339,000 tons for Great Britain.

Stimson's message was in the form of the text of his remarks to be made at the conference tomorrow.

Wants To Marry; Hunts Guardian

OAKLAND, Feb. 6.—UP—Twin sisters had their plans for a double wedding temporarily delayed today when the fiancé of Omena Olson, told the marriage license clerk he was a minor without parents or guardian. The youth, Paul Sterrett, set out to find a guardian while Omena's sister, Alphone and her fiancé, Baulford McInvalle, waited.

TRIAL DELAYED

Trial of Stanley Sweet of Richmond on charges of violating the state pay day law was postponed by Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom yesterday until April 8. The delay was asked by the state labor commission.

CAUSE, EFFECT AND CURE

My dear, the simple sight of you
Does things to me naught else can do.

It makes my breath come short and quick,
It makes my heart speed up its tick.

A misty haze falls over my eyes,
My temperature begins to rise.

My mind becomes a jumbled thing,
My tongue to palate starts to cling.

My arms and legs grow paralyzed . . .
My dear, it's time that you were "wised."

It's bad for me for you to be
Most any place where I can see.

So won't you try some other place?
Here . . . hide away in my embrace.

MARTIN PANZER

FOR BETTER, FOR WORSE

"The long and short of it is, marriage is sent to try a woman, and for nothing on earth besides," glibly declares Tilly in that widely and deservedly popular novel of a wife's heroism and sacrifice, "Ultima Thule."

Every woman, no matter how happily married, has had moments when she felt like Tilly. Fortunately, many wives have had many other moments of a different nature—not only moments, but hours and years, when marriage interested and inspired, instead of irked and irritated. Also, plenty of women, these divorcing days, try marriage instead of testing it "try" them—and if first they don't succeed, they try, try again.

Their reaction is sufficiently observed—and obvious. As the novelist, John Cowper Powys, pointed out, in his recent New York debate with Bertrand Russell, the world always hears about the divorces but learns nothing of the millions of silent, happy couples. One reason why we are not silent about them in this column is because we think they need a press agent. If only to encourage the youngsters hesitating on the brink of matrimony.

They do exist, to-day as yesterday, these basically right and enduring marriages; and they cannot be destroyed, wives know, by the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. It doesn't matter how free and easy divorces may be, how dwindling the religious and social penalties against it—the woman who truly loves her husband stays by him for better, for worse, because she loves him and wants more than anything in the world, to help him and make him happy.

No matter how marriage "tries" her, she takes the bitter with the sweet—not because she is held by law or convention and because her own tendencies and devotion will not let her go. She is a weak creature. She is a saint, high-minded, dignified, for she knows the true music between herself and her husband, under the superficial disorders.

The victorious wife, whom most of us know and some of us are, is a creature more inspiring and celebratory than that noble novel, "Ultima Thule," from which we have already quoted. A novel as any woman reader would guess, written by a mature woman of intelligence and fine sympathies, despite her unassuming pseudonym, "Henry Hapgood Richardson."

Here is the story of a real marriage between Richard and his Mary. Brilliant and lovable Richard is cursed with false pride, reckless judgment, stubborn self-confidence, a disastrous inability to adjust himself to circumstances, a morbid sensitivity. Losing his fortune in England, he goes to Australia to make a new start for his wife and children, but before their arrival.

plunges into debt in order to provide a too pretentious home. He is one of those men who are ashamed to reveal their exact financial condition to their wives, and who then, secretly and most unjustly, blame the wives for extravagance.

He worries so much over his debts that he works a doctor suffers. Next, he becomes obsessed with the desire to throw up even the measure of success he has attained and start once more as a "country" doctor. The change is the worst possible thing for his children and has nothing to recommend it except his own neurotic impatience and restlessness. Mary pleads to keep their home, she offers to take in boarders, she begs for a single convincing reason for the upheaval—all in vain.

YET, of course, she goes with him and bravely starts another home. In her moment of deepest bitterness she looks at him as devoted as wives do look, "and the result was the amazed reflection: 'But he's got the eyes of a child!'" for all his wrinkles and gray hair.

Through ever-increasing financial straits, through professional failure largely induced by his own weakness, through his self-tormenting and wife-tormenting impulses and moods, through final failure of health and mind, Mary loves and suffers and stands by her husband.

Why? Read the answer of Mary's creator, a woman:

"Dear God! . . . those passionate angers he roused in her, the unspeakable irritations she was capable of feeling with him, were things of the surface only. Dig deeper, and nothing mattered . . . but him. Aye, dig only deep enough, and her heart was raw with pity for him. Let what might happen to her; let the children go short, run wild; let him drag them at his heels the whole world over; she would submit to everything, endure everything, if she could only see him—Richard, her own dear husband!—hold up his head once more, carry himself with the old confidence."

"What did she matter? . . . what did anything or anybody matter?—if only she could restore to health, and courage to keep in something of the comfort he had been used to, this poor old comrade of the years!"

"If heaven existed, and was what people said it was, then it would certainly turn him into something different; a stranger—an angel—and what had she to do with angels? She wanted the man himself, the dear, warm, incompetent human creature at whose side she had been through so much. Oh, as if that mattered now! That is how a woman feels if she is a wife—and not, in the careful distinction made by a friend of ours, 'just a married woman.'"

A DISH A DAY

By Nancy Morris

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930.

The nicely flavored a la king sauce usually associated with chicken or turkey and served at parties dresses a variety of foods quite as invitingly. Almost any food that goes well in a Newburg or king. Diced veal, sweetbreads, pork, brains, eggs, mixed meats, shrimp, lobster, oysters, crabs, corn, halibut, terrapin, salmon, tuna, canned mackerel, corned beef and chipped beef, suggest themselves.

Since the a la king sauce happens to be a glorified version of white sauce one can achieve it. The first sauce taught a novice at cooking school is white sauce. In recipe after recipe this sauce, sometimes thin, sometimes medium and sometimes thick meets the eye. White sauce, beautifully made, foundations innumerable dishes of merit.

At a charming old New York inn or restaurant in Greenwich Village the unusualness of the menu is only surpassed by the flavor of the food offered. Luncheons that balance and dine, preceded by a matter of hard everyday planning to the dietitian in charge of the kitchen and an unceasing delight to the patrons.

Chipped beef a la king garnished with daintily broiled tomato slices and parsley sprigs formed the main course at luncheon recently. A vegetable soup preceded it and apple compote with golden sauce topped by a bit of hard sauce followed it. Fragrant coffee was served with the dumpling.

The recipe given is not that used at the old inn but a patron's guess at the excellent:

CHIPPED BEEF A LA KING
Four tablespoons butter
Four tablespoons flour
One teaspoon grated onion
One-fourth cup minced green peppers
One pint milk
One-fourth cup diced mushrooms
One and one-half cups milk
One and one-half cups chipped beef
Two egg yolks
Two tablespoons lemon juice
One-fourth teaspoon prepared mustard
One teaspoon cooking sherry
Six rounds of toast
Sprigs of parsley
Twelve slices of tomato, broiled

Servings: Six or seven
The tomato slices, evidently, enjoyed a sprinkling of sugar and salt before being placed under the broiler for a short time. They had a faint sweet taste and also that freshness only associated with tomatoes not too intimate with heat. Should the chipped beef seem too salty, pour boiled water over it and then pour off after a minute.

Melt the butter and in it saute the minced green peppers and mushrooms; after a minute, skim out and set aside. To the butter add the flour and stir until blended; then add the milk and stir until smooth. Cook directly over the heat, or in a double boiler until thick. Then add the sauteed peppers, mushrooms, minced pimiento, onion, grating and chipped beef. Let heat through. The sauce probably requires no salt as beef and sherry both are saline.

Beat the egg yolks and add the lemon juice, prepared mustard and cooking sherry. Stir into the beef mixture and heat to the boiling point; simmer ten minutes. Serve on toast rounds and garnish each serving with a sprig of parsley and two broiled tomato slices.

Modernizing the Home—When "A Complete Change" is the Problem

By Alma Zaiss

Dear Miss Zaiss:

We have been reading your articles for some time, and I personally am enjoying the Home Modernization subject very much. May I ask your help on a problem of refurnishing?

This spring I plan to buy new things for my bedroom and would like very much to have a modern scheme, only the modern bedroom sets I have seen so far have all seemed rather heavy and dark. I do not want a formal room or a starting one either, but am very anxious to get a light, cheerful effect that is completely different from the room I have had, which is furnished with a very good quality, with a double brass bed. I suppose it is because I am so tired of these things that the only change I can think of is something modern.

This is the outline of my room, size 13 by 16 feet (sketch enclosed). The windows face a court but the sun comes in there until noon. Walls and woodwork are cream, and I would like to use my present rug, a light blue and white pattern. I am still very good. What kind of bedstead? I live with my mother and sister in a four-room apartment, suburban. Thank you immensely if you can help me as much as you have many other readers.

Light Natural Woods Effective for the Bedroom

Copyright Press Publishing Company

(New York World) 1930

HOW many home-makers would revel in the opportunity to have a complete change in one or more rooms of the home! And how many can appreciate thoroughly Miss McA's desire for new appointments that bear no resemblance to the old familiar things. For so are we affected by constant living with furniture that is not inherently beautiful or suited for its surroundings.

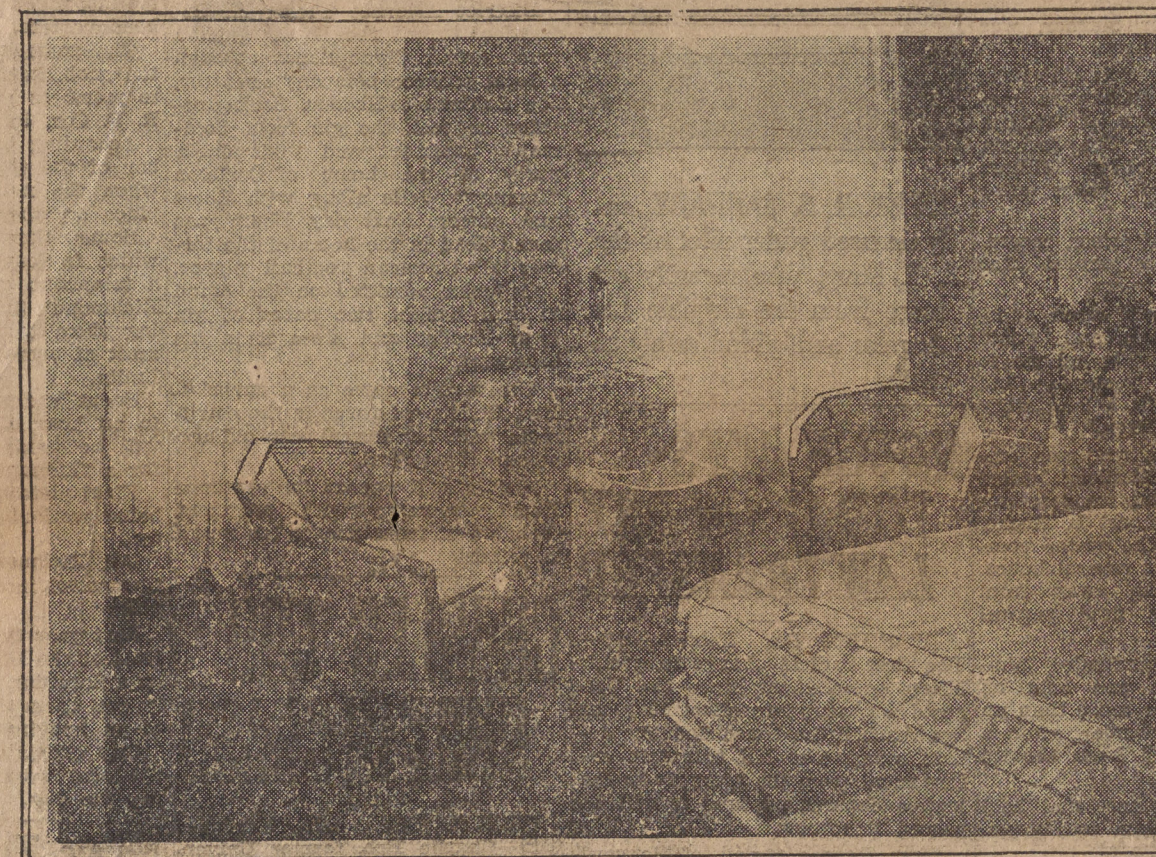

Miss McA has not given a description of the other rooms in her home, but her floor plan indicates that the bedroom in question is so placed that it may receive individual treatment. If this be true, she may adopt a modern scheme without fear that it will conflict with other furnishings.

As her desire is to obliterate as completely as possible the memory of the mahogany and brass-bed ensemble, we believe she will find much pleasure in working out a plan that is distinctly new and so have outlined for her a room that meets her request for a light, cheerful treatment and furniture that is neither dark nor formal.

Among later modern pieces many very excellent designs are developed in light woods, including satinwood, sycamore, lemonwood, zebra-wood and a number of other interesting new varieties. The unusual woods are not in the popular priced class, to be sure; that would be too much to expect.

But following them closely in appearance are several inexpensive woods, which when beautifully waxed and finished make very creditable substitutes for their more exotic rivals. There is also a vogue for painted wood and silver or gold lacquer finishes applied to furniture designed in the modern manner. It is possible to find excellent unfinished furniture of the modern type in several of the better stores; and there are at least two cabinetmakers who design special modern pieces to suit one's fancy. One may do one's own painting, of course, but this is rarely advisable, for much of the charm of modern furniture is due to its craftsmanship and the exquisite finish which gives dignity and beauty to the simple lines. Poorly executed pieces and amateurish painting are unthinkable in the modern scheme. It is usually much more satisfactory and more essential in the end—to have the painting done by an expert, but by the shop where the furniture is bought.

The floor plan for Miss McA's problem shows an arrangement which would bring both comfort and beauty to the room. The entrance occurs at a point which gives a broad view of the windows, and here we have indicated a group of modern pieces that will prove both friendly and inviting. The diagram calls for a dressing table and two comfortable chairs for the window group; a wardrobe or chest of drawers for the wall to the right of the window; a small side chair, a crescent shaped night table and two tall and extremely narrow cabinets to be used as pedestals at either side of the doorway which cuts the left wall. These trim little modern pieces—often not more than nine inches wide—are constructed to provide both shelf and drawer space and are most convenient for small accessories such as shoes, slippers, lingerie and the collection of trinkets which it is so difficult to keep in order in larger compartments.

For the bed we have suggested a broad, low studio couch or bed without head or footboard—a type that is used very frequently in modern schemes. These beds may be had with a finished wood base and tailored box mattress, as indicated in the illustration or a less costly model which is designed to be covered by the spread, or upholstery may be used with good effect. The low bench or stool indicated on the plan provides a nice finish for the foot of the bed, and the screen affords an opportunity for interesting modern design.

Miss McA wishes to make use of the rug now in the room. Its color happens to be a pinkish taupe, and we shall follow this rosy suggestion with a scheme in which pink predominates. In the illustration the upholstered pieces are covered with rayon matelasse in soft shades of rose, which harmonizes with the furniture of sycamore wood. With her cream walls Miss McA might use natural wood furniture of a dull honey shade or unpainted furniture finished in a delicious shade of cafe au lait. With either one a fabric similar to the matelasse—certain design showing a wavy pattern in rose and beige tones, for example—would work out very well for the bedspread and upholstery for the tall easy chairs. The side chair and footstool might be covered with dull rose velvet.

Full sheer curtains of shaded voile or chiffon running from palest cream through several shades of rose are suggested for the two windows. These to be made very full and to hang in soft folds to the floor, if the type of the window permits this treatment. If not, they may end at the bottom of the window frame.

Lamps may be of ivory-toned porcelain with plain honey-colored shades bound with rose and turquoise, and toilet accessories should be in harmony. Thus far the scheme has emphasized the beige tones and soft, subtle shades of rose deepening to pinkish taupe at the floor. But we shall want other colors. They may be introduced through the use of a lovely modern picture above the bed, one above the chest, and a few pieces of colored glass or modern pottery for the cabinet shelves. Pastel colors and a strong definite note of turquoise should be emphasized by these accessories.

For the screen a certain modern wall paper with a design of tall, slim birch trees on beige ground would furnish an elusive pattern against the cream-colored wall.

If Miss McA will develop these suggestions, being very careful to choose luxurious shades of rose and beige as distinguished from those that are commonplace, she will find her new room light and cheerful and altogether charming—a scheme so different from the old one that she must certainly label it a complete change.

Bleaching the Linen

IF YOUR linens have turned yellow wash them in hot water and you need not be afraid to use strong soaps. Undyed linens and cottons are the only fabrics that will stand this treatment. You can even bleach them, but avoid strong bleaches, and even in using a mild bleach do not allow the garment to remain in it long. Then be sure and rinse thoroughly to remove all traces of the bleach.

If you boil uncolored linens and cottons with a good soap they will not be so apt to turn yellow. The final blue rinse will neutralize the yellow cast and if hung quite wet in the sunshine the oxidizing action of the sun and water will be more effective produce a pure whiteness.

"W. H. HATS, hush money. Dad?"

"Money paid for silence."

"Is silence worth money?"

"Sometimes it is."

"When is it worth money?"

"Well, if one has done something wrong and another person knows it, the one who knows it is in position to demand money for not telling."

"Is it wrong to take hush money?"

"Certainly it is; it's blackmail."

"What's blackmail?"

"Demanding and taking hush money."

"Am I a blackmailer?"

"Why, no, of course not."

"Is sister a blackmailer?"

"Don't be absurd."

"Well, why did she tell you if you didn't give her a new fur coat she would tell mother?"

"Oh, go to bed!"

The China Cabinet Shelves

OUR mothers decorated the shelves of the china closet with over-hanging dories or fancy shelf paper and these were frequently changed.

This custom has passed into oblivion and the shelves of cabinets, whether separate or built in, are left bare so there is nothing to distract from the beautiful china and glassware.

In the modern separate types the doors of china cabinets are usually of an ornate nature, and this subdues the glaring effect of the china and glass, but in the built-in cabinets the doors are of plain glass, and in large ones take up considerable wall space. These, therefore, will look better if curtained and that is the present custom.

If you prefer to display your best china, glass, silver, etc., you may have the curtains of fine net or sheer marquisette. When tightly drawn between the upper and lower rods, the contents of the cabinet will be visible and the effect will be more attractive than the unadorned door and more modern than any decoration on the shelves of the cabinet.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

HURRY! That is what causes the death of our great farmers men these days. Almost every day you read of some man prominent in this country's business who died suddenly—in A HURRY—from heart disease.

What causes this hurry? FEAR. No one is ever in a hurry who is not afraid of something. Think it over, and—TAKE IT EASY!

Suede Gloves

SUEDE will be the vogue in street gloves and in the off-white and white shades for spring rather than the long familiar beige tones. For sports the doekin glove is the chic one.

The suede slip-on in six-button length takes precedence over the four-button length, although the latter has attained greater popularity. Long gloves will be worn for spring evenings, though less so than during the winter. White glove kid, off-white and pastel tinted suede are seen in these.

ADVICE TO INVESTORS

OUR own advice to investors—and it is as good as any other else's. S. M. D., Brooklyn—What should I buy for a quick rise? ANS.—Fleischmann Yeast, Curtiss-Wright Airplane and National Fireworks.

B. F. McN., Charleston, S. C.—What would you advise me to purchase that is safe and has a conservative yield?

ANS.—Look up on J. C. Penney and International Nickel for safety and a conservative yield. Penney and Nickel together should give you 6 per cent. on your investment.

L. T. D., Chicago—What are the prospects of Mother Lode going up? ANS.—Depends on the Nation's consumption of mammy songs. If Al Jolson makes a couple more pictures, chances are very good.

M. C. F., Los Angeles—I want to play the market and have some fun. What would you advise me to buy? ANS.—If you're just looking for fun, we'd try a combination of Coca Cola, United States Industrial Alcohol and Canada Dry. This will give you a nice mixture and to make it cool and refreshing, drop in a few shares of Kellogg.

F. W. C., Stamford, Conn.—All together I have 1,100 shares of United Carbon and Internal Combustion Engine, but they do not seem to move at all. Ans. If you took your United Carbon out, your Internal Combustion Engine would go better.

C. S. M., Buffalo—I am going to Florida for a month's vacation and would like to know what to buy before I leave. Ans. If you buy American Woolen, Gotham Silk Hosiery and Associated Apparel before you go to Florida, you are all set.

J. A. D., Albany—What motor stocks do you recommend? Ans. Mack Truck is good for a long pull and Hudson Motors O. K. for short journeys.

P. L. T., Boston—Are there any bargains in the market right now? Ans. Yes. Buy International Cement and put it away to harden.

N. P. B., Worcester, Mass.—I don't like the looks of things as I scan the stock market tables. I'm afraid something awful is bound to happen soon. Ans. We agree with you. As we look at the stock market tables, it seems to us Consolidated Cigar is entirely too near Consolidated Film.

W. C. B., Providence, R. I.—How Sound is Love Sound? ANS.—We refuse to give advice on puns.

M. O. F., Newark, N. J.—I am looking for something to go up quickly. ANS.—Try a combination of Atlas Powder and Diamond Match.

C. B. S., Trenton, N. J.—Is Fairbanks a good buy? ANS.—Yes, but we prefer Greta Garbo or Clara Bow.

V. C. T., Topeka, Kan.—I have recently been buying undigested securities and feel that I am overloaded.

HAINES AT BEST IN PICTURE OF NAVY

"Navy Blues," William Haines' first all talking navy picture, is interesting in more ways than one. It ranges all the way from the most whimsical Haines comedy material to poignant heart interest, and discloses the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star not only as a comedian of the first magnitude, but also as one of the most forceful and convincing "straight" actors of the screen.

The new picture now playing at the Fox-California theater, shows Haines as a "gob" aboard a destroyer, with a sweetheart ashore in port, and a dramatic little love story of misunderstanding, duty interfering with love's young dream, and a final reconciliation following a fighting rescue, forms the central theme. About this is woven comedy aboard ship and in the haunts of sailors ashore, intimate glimpses of life aboard ship and with the sailors in action, the customs and manners of sailors, and a wealth of authentic detail. Much of this was actually filmed aboard a destroyer at sea.

Clarence Brown directed the new picture, and his well-known "human touches" mingle with the typical Haines whimsicalities. Haines is a comedian most of the time, but a vivid dramatic actor in the serious parts of the story. Anita Page makes a charming heroine as the sweetheart ashore, and also shows a depth of tense dramatic feeling in the vivid quarrel scene and dramatic climax of the play.

Karl Dane as "Sven," the fighting buddy of the sailor hero, figures in some swift fighting action, and also in a comedy sequence with Gertrude Sutton playing his Swedish sweetheart. Wade Boteler is convincingly "hard boiled" as the tough chief petty officer.

J. C. Nugent and Eddythe Chapman play the parents of the heroine and inject some brilliant human touches into the action of the play. The new talking picture, with its brilliant dialogue, is a hundred per cent entertainment, moves with a swift tempo, and shows new sides of Haines' talent.

An Our Gang comedy, "Lazy Days," is also on the bill.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the place, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

HIGH PUPILS DANCE TONIGHT

Richmond Union high school pupils will dance and be merry tonight at the first night dance to be held this term by the local high school Students' association.

The music will be provided by Gay Vargas' Red Peppers. The high school cafeteria, where the dance will be held, has been decorated in the St. Valentine manner. The arrangements for the affair have been directed by Patricia McAndrews, social chairman of the Students' association.

Eugene Selvy is chairman of the decorating committee for the dance. The members of this committee are: Davis Byrns, Robert Reid, Roberta Jackson, Woodrow Snodgrass, Pearl Terry, Ralph Shallenberger, and Gerald Collins. The decoration of the cafeteria was carried out under the direction of Bernice Whiting of the high school faculty.

The floor committee is headed by Eyrone Young, who is assisted by Edward Owens and George Deagan. Edwin Poole is chairman of the refreshments committee, which includes: Milton Belway, Edwin Brooks, Irene Haines, Elva Plouff and Hattie May Smith. The cleanup committee consists of Schuyler Albert, chairman; J. A. Vincent, Harmon Jetta, Fred Oshima, Nick Begovich, Walter Bradbury, Albert Schultz and Edward Bergen.

The dance will start at eight o'clock and end at 1 o'clock. Only members of the Richmond Union high school Student Body will be allowed to attend this affair.

Oh Yeah He's Coming Here

JAMES GLEASON, Jr., in "Oh Yeah," which is coming to the screen of the Fox-California theater tomorrow.

THRILL BATTLE ON TRAIN IN 'OH YEAH'

Staging a good old fashioned brawl before the cameras on terra firma is one thing and staging it on top of a swiftly moving freight car with nothing between you and a 400 foot chasm is another. Yet, James Gleason, who ordinarily confines his comedy and drama to the linguistic sort, put on just such a hair-raising fight for the scenes in "Oh, Yeah!" Pathe's all-dialogue production which is coming to the Fox-California theater tomorrow and in which he is featured with Bob Armstrong.

The fight was photographed along the Western Pacific railroad which runs parallel to Feather River canyon in upper California and is one of the action high spots of the picture.

This, however, is only one of many exciting scenes in the picture. There is a train wreck that will make spectators grip their seats, and in addition there is an abundance of fine comedy.

In the cast of "Oh, Yeah!" which is based upon A. W. Somerville's "Saturday Evening Post" story, "No Brakes," and directed by Tay Garnett, and Patricia Caron, Zasu Pitts, Paul Hurst, Frank Hagney, Bud Fine and other notable players. It is the first time Armstrong and Gleason have appeared together, either on the stage or screen, since their great success in "Is Zat So?"

The talking comedy, "Trusting Wives," is also on the program.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from La Moine Drug Co. or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

You can do better

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Seidel) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c; "Corn Fly" Bath Powder, 25c; and "Corn Fly" Bunton Remedy, 50c. (All three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

SCOUTS READY FOR BANQUET MEETING

Richmond Boy Scouts and their dads will gather around the banquet tables at the Memorial hall Saturday night at the annual fathers' and sons' dinner, a part of the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of Scouting.

A feature of the evening will be the recommitment ceremonies at eight o'clock. Aubrey Wilson, the chairman of the Richmond district Council of Boy Scouts, will lead the boys in again pledging their allegiance to the ideals of Scouting.

The dinner will open with invocation by Scoutmaster John Mortell. "America the Beautiful" will be sung by the audience, under the direction of Rev. C. G. Lindemann.

Hume Vaughn, an Eagle Scout, will give a toast to the fathers, and W. H. McCoy will give a toast to the sons.

Aubrey Wilson will be toastmaster.

According to R. F. Cox, local Scout executive, a well known speaker will address the meeting.

MOOSE LODGE NOT TO MEET HERE THURSDAY

No meeting of the Moose lodge will be held next Thursday night, it was announced at a meeting of the organization in Moose hall last night.

Postponement was made because many members of the local order are planning to attend initiation ceremonies to be held at Martinez lodge. Ed Ridley, dictator, presided over last night's meeting.

Initiation will be held in the local hall on Feb. 20, to be followed by a banquet.

PULLMAN P. T. A. WILL WELCOME NEW TEACHER

Plans for a reception to be held in honor of Miss Olive Carey, a new teacher at the Pullman school were made by the members of the Pullman P. T. A. yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the school.

The reception will be held on March 6 and will be featured by a luncheon.

Plans to assist several needy families were also discussed by the group.

Mrs. George Newford presided over the business meeting.

Miramar O. E. S. Reception To Be Held Tonight

Officers and members of Miramar chapter, O. E. S. have prepared an elaborate reception for Bertha Terry, worthy matron and Stanley Hays, worthy patron for tonight.

Mrs. Ida McDowell, associate matron, heads the committee in charge of arrangements.

She has prepared a program and a course supper, to be presented after the lodge meeting.

All members of the Eastern Star are cordially invited to attend.

Hercules Street Paving To Start In Near Future

At a meeting of officials of the Hercules Powder company in Hercules recently, Peres and Gatto, Richmond contractors were awarded the contract to pave all streets in Hercules. Their bid was $12,000.

Approximately 120,000 square feet will be paved, according to A. Gatto. He said that oil macadam will be used for the pavement.

Work will start next week, and it is expected the paving will be finished in about 50 days. Equipment for the work will be started moving to Hercules the latter part of this week, and 12 men will be at work early next week.

Peres and Gatto are at present installing a miniature golf course in Hercules, which they expect to complete by the end of this week.

Three bids in all were submitted for the contract. The other two were offered by L. L. Page of Richmond and the Hutchinson company in Oakland.

Pastor Of Pines At Fellowship Meeting Here

Rev. George H. Redden, known as "Pastor of the Pines," was the speaker of the session of the Richmond Church Fellowship last night in the Stege Presbyterian church.

Rev. Redden has spent ten years of his life in the logging camps of Oregon and Washington. He told a straight forward, simple story of his life. He also sang several selections.

Capt. Nadine Grindle of the Salvation Army, who leaves next week to take a new post at Valjevo, was paid special honors by the group. Rev. A. A. Pratt on behalf of the Richmond churches, expressed regret that Capt. Grindle is leaving.

C. C. Kratzer presided over the business meeting.

The next meeting, to be held on March 6, will be under the direction of the Salvation Army.

McKinley Lodge Holds Session

McKinley Masonic lodge held a stated meeting in the Masonic hall last night under the chairmanship of A. C. Curtis, worshipful master.

Following the regular order of business, a get together meeting was held and refreshments were served.

Glen Conn was in charge of the entertainment and refreshments.

Next Thursday night, Jacob Hughes will deliver a lecture on Masonic work.

AMERICA TO DEMAND NAVAL PARITY WITH GREAT BRITAIN

They immediately were approved by President Hoover after which acting Secretary of State Cotten spoke to Stimson in London by long distance telephone.

Stimson said the first American demand was immediate parity in every class of ship with Great Britain.

Plan Told

He suggested battleship fleets be equalized in 1931 instead of in 1942 as scheduled by the Washington arms conference. The United States now possesses 18 battleships compared with 20 for Great Britain. The Washington conference provided the two countries should attain parity in 1942 with 15 capital ships each.

Stimson suggested reductions on both sides to equalize the two fleets next year.

The least reduction to provide equality would be the scrapping of two British warships which would leave the fleets with 18 battleships each. The maximum reduction would be to scrap five British and three American capital ships next year leaving the fleets with 13 capital ships each—the level foreseen by the Washington treaty.

Cruisers Asked

For the United States, Stimson asked 18 cruisers of 10,000 tons armed with eight inch guns against 15 for Great Britain. The actual tonnage difference between the cruiser fleets, Stimson said, would be 12,000 tons. Great Britain will possess 42,000 tons more of small six-inch gun cruisers than the United States, but 30,000 tons of this will be offset by the surplus of six American cruisers.

"But to insure 'exact equality of opportunity,' Stimson proposed each country should be privileged exactly to duplicate the other's cruiser fleet.

"Thus Great Britain," Stimson said, "would have the option by reducing its number of small cruisers to increase its larger cruisers from 15 to 18 so as to give it a total tonnage of 327,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the United States now asks. On the other hand, the United States would have the option by reducing its large cruisers from 18 to 15 to increase the number of its cruisers so as to give it a total cruiser tonnage of 339,000, the exact amount of tonnage which the British now ask."

Statement Told

In destroyers and aircraft carriers, Stimson urged equality in tonnage and for submarines the lowest possible limit. Stimson explained the United States would agree to total abolition of submarines but if that were not possible would suggest the operations of submarines be limited by international law.

The statement brushed over the Japanese-American situation, merely saying:

"Our suggestion to the Japanese would produce an over all relation satisfactory to us and, we hope, to them. In conformity with our relations in the past it is not based upon the same ratio in every class of ships."

Parity Given

Stimson emphasized that there was unanimity among the American delegates but said it was not deemed wise at this time to reveal further concrete information.

Acting Secretary Cotten issued a statement asserting that the proposal gives tonnage parity by categories between Great Britain and the United States.

GREAT BRITAIN TO SCRAP BIG SHIPS

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(U.P.)—Great Britain under agreement with other powers, is willing to begin immediate scrapping of five of her 20 capital ships, the British spokesman at the five-power naval conference declared today.

He said it would take two years for Britain to scrap the five vessels. If the other powers were willing to cut, in proportion to the Washington treaty ratios, he saw no reason to wait until 1936, when the treaty expires.

The spokesman made clear that no concrete proposal embodying the suggestion had been submitted to the conference proper, but admitted the matter was being discussed by delegations, together with the prospects for a battleship building holiday until 1936.

Proposal Told

This development tended to bear out reports that the powers were discussing capital ship reduction to a basis of 15 ships for the United States and Britain and nine for Japan.

Theoretically, Britain and America were each limited to 25,000 tons of capital ships and Britain to 315,000 tons, but the British were permitted to keep a larger tonnage because some of its vessels were old. The Japanese, on the other hand, with almost a complete modern fleet, are well below their 315,000 tons.

There were other important developments today, notably preparation by Andre Tardieu, French premier, of a submarine proposal to submit to the plenary session Tuesday and a further deadlock on cruisers and destroyers which was referred to a technical committee for possible compromise.

Tardieu, faced with British and American requests for abolition of submarines, was expected to propose a "humanizing" of submarine warfare, restricting attacks on merchant ships during war.

The experts will try to draw up two tentative lists of suitable ship classifications according to the ideas so far submitted. The two lists will form a basis on which the committee of the whole can work.

Cut Asked

Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, received women of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan in the dining hall of St. James' palace this afternoon and heard them plead for a reduction of ships in all classes.

Mrs. Edgerton Parsons of New York said she spoke for 6,000,000 women members of American peace organizations who believed the "time has come to lay another stone in the edifice of peace."

ALBANY JUDGE WINS $15,000

OAKLAND, Feb. 6.—As a result of an automobile accident in which Police Judge George W. Hickman of Albany was injured last summer, judgment for $15,000 was given yesterday by agreement against Fred E. Stewart, member of the equalization board and two other defendants.

Settlement for this amount was announced when the case was called before Superior Judge John D. Murphy.

Judge Hickman was a passenger in Stewart's car when it collided with a machine operated by Montoya and William Lindede.

Concussion of the brain, a broken left arm and severe cuts and bruises were suffered by the judge. He charged all the defendants with negligence and sued for $55,978.

It was stipulated in open court that Stewart should pay $10,750 of the judgment, and the other defendants should pay the balance.

TROOP NO. 11 HAS OUTING

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 11 enjoyed an outing at the beach near the Richmond-San Rafael ferry pier last night. Carl Rasmussen, Scoutmaster of the troop, was in charge.

Tenderfoot tests were passed by Bud Kreutzen, Donald Merch, Donald Webster, Earl Cheek and Billy Page.

The boys cooked their supper and played games during the hour they spent at the beach.

Dropping Of Notes Ends In $250 Fine

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—(U.P.)—Last summer, when Loren Mendell established a since broken endurance refueling flight record with Pete Reinhardt, he dropped notes to Miss Blanche Cane. Then they had trouble. Today, Mendell pleaded guilty to a possession of liquor charge placed after Miss Cane sent officers to his room. He was fined $250.

He represented 108,000 Japanese women desiring naval reduction.

Rotary To Hear About Stock Mart

E. Guy Colvin, of the Russell Colvin company of San Francisco will address the Richmond Rotary club at its meeting in the Hotel Carquinez today.

"The Effects of the Stock Market Upon Business" will be the subject of his talk.

Carl Bierbaer is chairman of the day and has arranged the program.

Industrial Group Will Be Reformed

Reorganization of the Richmond Industrial commission, was planned at a meeting of local citizens in the Hotel Carquinez yesterday.

Harry Ellis, president of the commission, reported that the organization has been active in signing up property owners along Ellis canal for the dredging and filling project.

Another meeting will be held in San Francisco next month when property owners in that section and in nearby Richmond will be invited to join the commission.

It was agreed that the commission will devote its attention to operating with large tract owners in locating new industries, and will not interfere with the work of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

BARRIER MEET TO ATTRACT MANY

Advance reservations for the bay barrier dinner at the Hotel Carquinez Saturday night indicate that it will be the largest dinner meeting held in Richmond in recent years, according to a report by the chamber of commerce yesterday.

The reservations already made insure an overflow meeting, and plans will be made to accommodate a large number at the speaking program who are unable to secure seats at the dinner, it was said by C. S. Renwick, chairman of the arrangements committee.

The meeting will be in honor of the joint legislative committee headed by Bradford Crittenden, which is giving Saturday to a tour of Contra Costa county. E. B. Bull, postmaster, and Ralph Bergen, director of the chamber of commerce, will be the speakers for Richmond on the program. A complete outline of the bay barrier will be given by C. W. Schleder, president of the Salt Water Barrier association.

Other speakers will include D. D. Watson, Brentwood; L. E. Mullen, Martinez; R. H. Wight, Pittsburg; Hugh H. Donovan, mayor of Pittsburg; William J. Buchanan, chairman of the board of supervisors; Hollis P. Thompson, secretary Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; Chester R. Hunt, and Charles H. Lee, Oakland; Paul Wetmore, Benicia; William Pierce, Suisun; Tom McCormac, Rio Vista; Mayor Al Paulsen of Richmond and address of welcome.

Delegations from outside communities will bulk large at the dinner, it was shown in the chamber of commerce report of reservations. They will include 35 from Martinez, Schleder with 33 from Pittsburg, and others.

Those who are unable to secure seats at the dinner are invited to come in between 7:30 and 8 o'clock at which time a rearrangement of seats will be made so as to take care of the largest possible crowd to hear the program. The session is the largest and most important in the current campaign to bring about construction of a barrier in the Carquinez straits to hold back the tides of the ocean and conserve fresh water from the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. Agricultural and industrial interests are combined in the barrier campaign inasmuch as many millions of dollars of invested capital are at stake.

Sunny ELECTRIC HEAT for cold days

The lion and the lamb have their fling at the weather throughout the spring months. So keep a portable electric heater handy for the sudden changes to cold and rain.

The widespread heat and sunny, cheerful glow of the electric heater banish chills. Use your electric heater in the breakfast room. Use it for dressing, bathing or when the children come home with cold, wet feet. Healthful electric warmth helps prevent colds and gives your entire family much comfort.

There are two types of portable electric heaters. Those that give a beam of heat where you want it and those that heat and circulate the air. Your dealer or our office has both types.

HAYWARD FIVE DEFEATED BY LOCALS

Spectacular shooting captured a 28 to 17 victory for the Richmond Union high school varsity cagers last night in the Richmond gymnasium in the decisive battle of a three game series with Hayward high school.

After playing two extra periods to break a 15 to 15 tie, the Hayward B quintet won by a score of 20 to 19 over the Richmond Union high school B squad.

Richmond's C team fought to a 19 to 11 victory over the Hayward C's.

Locals Superior

The Hayward varsity "Farmers" were easily outclassed by the Richmond heavyweights. The local boys slipped in for perfect hole shots, sank long shots from the middle of the floor, and altogether played one of the best games that they have played this season. Marcus, Richmond forward, gave the fans that almost filled the high school gymnasium something to think about by sinking a total of 13 points, the majority of which were made from difficult angles to the goal.

The B contest was undoubtedly the most frenzied battle on last night's card. Richmond held a fair lead throughout the first half, with the result that the half time score was 13 to 7 in their favor. Hayward then assumed the aggressive and had narrowed the score down to 13 to 15 for Richmond one minute before the final whistle. Wilford, Hayward forward sank a bucket as the game ended, thereby making it necessary to play an extra quarter to break the 15 to 13 tie.

Sank Bucket

Things started popping in that extra period. First Rollino of Richmond sank a long one. Then F. Turner and L. Turner sank a foul shot each in quick succession. Rollino then sent Richmond sympathizers into joyful antics by executing a perfect shot from mid floor as the final whistle blew for the second time. But, alas for Richmond's hopes of victory, the judges ruled Rollino's shot as worthless, stating that the whistle had really blown a second before the goal was made.

A second extra period was then required to conclude the close contest. This last extra quarter was almost a replica of the first extra period. Rollino again sank a long one from the middle of the floor. A Richmond player made one of the fouls that cost Richmond its victory, and the foul shot was made good by Turner of Hayward. As the chance of a third extra quarter seemed imminent, L. Turner placed the ball neatly in the Richmond basket to make Hayward's dreams come true, and the whistle blew!

C's Good

The Richmond C's played an aggressive and plucky game against the Hayward lightweight "Farmers" and maintained a comfortable margin throughout the entire game.

The next cage game in which Richmond Union high school will participate will be fought against the San Rafael Military Academy in the Richmond gymnasium Feb. 14.

First Game

Richmond Varsity 28—Meyers, 5, Mikek; forwards: Passoni 2, center; Brock 2, Scarcella, guards substitutes: Marcus 13, Viano, 4, Baskett, Harlow, Roveda, McCane, Kenney, Drexel 2.

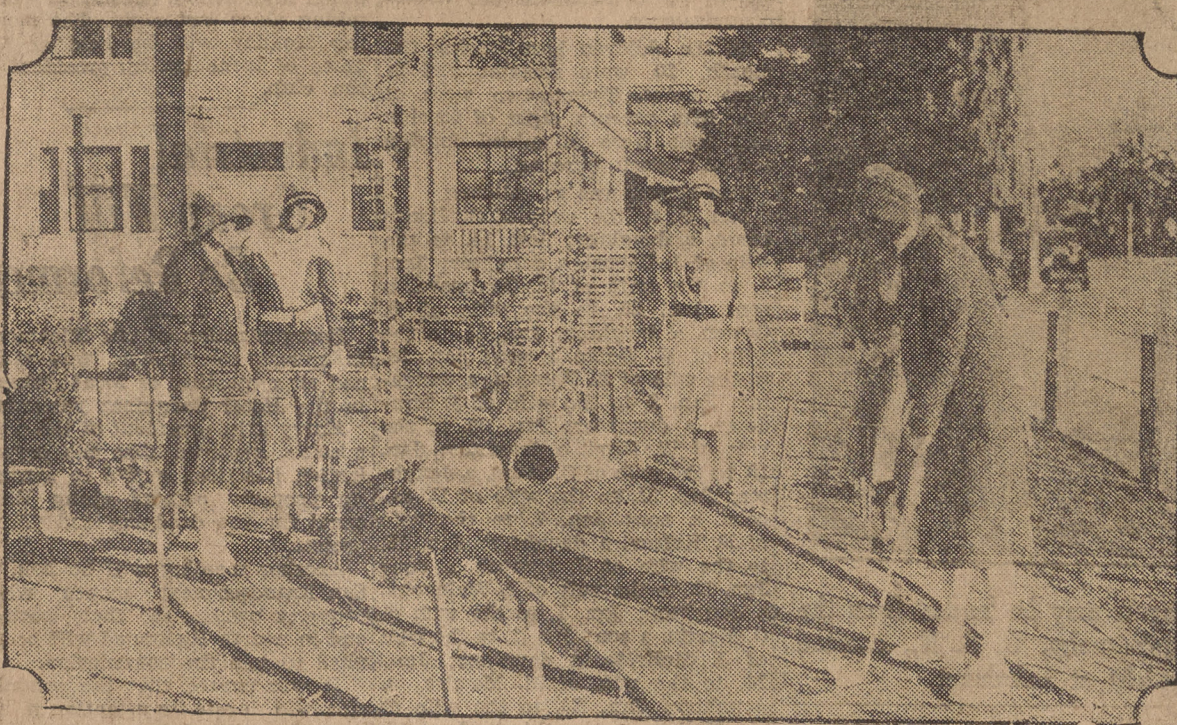

Hayward Varsity 17—Smith, Butler 1, forwards: Barrett 4, center; Hackett 1, Snodgrass 1, at guards; substitutes: Sonza 7, Nielson, Lewis 3, Jones, Ridout.

Second Game

Hayward B's 20—Brown 4, Anderson 2, forwards; Arlington, center; Shots 2, L. Turner 5, guards; substitutes: F. Turner 4, Whitford 3.

Richmond B's 19—Rollino 9, Johnson, forwards; T. Wilson 2,

RICHMOND WILL have one of these new Tom Thumb golf courses which was recently opened at Long Beach. The course can be played with a putter. M. A. Hays and E. M. Downer are building the local course.

ALL STAR FIVES SPLIT TWO GAMES

The Richmond all-star unlimited basketball team lost to the Martinez Native Sons team by a score of 40 to 33 last night at the Martinez high school gymnasium.

The local 145 pounders won their game by a score of 24 to 9.

The unlimiteds were "off" thru-out the game and were unable to score needed points. Barbieri was high man for the losers with 10 points.

In the 145 game, Flynn and Melin scored for the locals. The former made eight points and Melin scored six.

A return game with Martinez will be played here Wednesday night.

Lineups last night:
145 Pounders
Richmond 24—Melin 6, Hall 1, forwards; S. Gordon 4, center; Weeks 4, S. Gordon, guards; Flynn 8, Maloney 3, Cornell, subs.
Martinez 9—Wells 1, Johnson, forwards; Bosso 6 center; Jory 2, Janson, guards; Kirk, Duart, Hugs, subs.

Unlimited Game

Coach Invents 'Robot' Timekeeper

BERKELEY, Feb. 6—Coach Stanley Jones of the University of California boxing team is the proud inventor of a "robot" timekeeper now installed in Harmon Gymnasium. An electrical connection between a large clock and a bell is regulated to ring the end of five minute periods during the boxing classes he conducts as a physical education instructor for the university.

center; Sanfilippo, Rogers, guards substitutes, Snodgrass 4, B. Miller, A. Wilson.

Hayward C's 11—Kestif 1, Hodson 1, forwards; Sweeney 7, center; Giradone, Lucas 2, guards; substitutes, Mironaki, Kopland, Neppur, Havanatz, center; Shots.

Bear Boxers In Good Shape For Coming Season

BERKELEY, Feb. 6—With four good heavyweights battling for the chance to go against Stanford in the first intercollegiate boxing matches of the season on Feb. 14, Coach Stanley Jones of the University of California team is still puzzled as to what his selections will be for the entire card. Jones has a squad of 35 ambitious leather pushers working out every night in Harmon gym. He looks forward to the most successful season in the ring that California has ever experienced.

Leading contenders in the heavy weight division are Ben Robinson, a transfer from Davis and Pacific Coast Intercollegiate heavyweight title holder; Ralston Gill, 190 pound fullback on the California varsity, and an aggressive fighter; and William Fowler, who fought in interclass bouts last year.

Capt. Dwight Gribbon and Geo. Sherwood are middleweight boxers of varsity experience. George Garner is a veteran light-heavy. In the lightweight class a lively scramble is being staged by Wilbur Kindig, Al Dubecker, and Earl Stevens, another trio of veterans. Nemir, the scholastically inclined captain of the wrestling team is also working for a place on the boxing team, in the featherweight division. He is facing some stiff opposition in the person of Art Ribbol, a sophomore.

Coach Jones is being assisted in the handling of his large squad of boxers by Frank Ribbel, captain of last year's boxing team, and for two years holder of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate title in the welterweight class.

RAIN DELAYS TEXAS TOURNEY

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 6.—UP—Delayed one day by heavy rains which made a literal swamp of the Rio Rico course, the Houston Open golf tournament will get underway tomorrow with a field of 72 amateur professionals prize.

The first two rounds of medal tournament competition will be played Saturday with a final 36 holes scheduled for Sunday.

Several of the country's leading professionals will compete for the $3000 in cash prizes.

Two Captains On Bear Mat Squad

BERKELEY, Feb. 6—The heaviest and lightest men on the University of California wrestling team are both captains, Carl Handley, captain-elect of the football team wrestles in the unlimited division while not playing guard. Edgar Nemir, wrestling captain, is the smallest man on the squad. He wrestles at 130 pounds.

Frankie Genaro Loses In Berlin

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—UP—Frankie Genaro, American claimant to the world's flyweight championship, lost on a foul to Harry Stein, former German champion, in the final round of a scheduled eight-round bout here tonight.

California has about 20 acres of real estate per inhabitant as compared with an average of 13 acres per capita throughout the U. S. California is composed of 101,000,000 acres of which less than 20,000,000 are in cultivation.

BALL FANS WILL SEE CHOICE OFFERINGS

Several games of much interest to Richmond baseball fans are in the offing, according to the managers of the local teams of the Oakland Winter league. It is fairly certain that the San Pablo nine will tangle with the Native Sons of San Leandro Sunday, while the Thomas Motors are expecting to meet the Hayashi Florists of Alameda this week end, with the possibility of a double header accompanying the Motors-Hayashi contests.

Definite word concerning all these Oakland Winter league games will probably be received today by Ted Christ, San Pablo manager, and Les Thomas, director of the Thomas Motor aggregation.

If a game is arranged between the Motors and the Hayashi Florists, fans may expect to see something on the order of real baseball. The Motors are triumphant over their recent victories over San Pablo and San Leandro, and are prepared to give the gardeners of Alameda the greatest battle of their career. The outlook of the Florists is not quite so bright, for they were defeated 6 to 2, last Sunday by San Pablo. Yet the Florists have handed several defeats to league leaders, and they are still capable of giving a superior team a bad scare.

A double header to accompany the Motor-Florists game seems possible, for a great many league games have piled up because of the three-week spell of rainy weather that postponed all competition on eastbay diamonds. The teams that would take part in this extra game if it was arranged are not yet known.

It is believed that the San Pablo-San Leandro contest will be held in San Leandro. San Leandro's prospects for Sunday appear rather gloomy, for they suffered a crushing 15 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Motors last week-end, while San Pablo is hopeful because of their victory over the Hayashi outfit.

International Club Will Hear Address By Berkeley Speaker

Allen C. Baisdell, head of the University of California International House, will speak at a program to be presented soon by the International club of Richmond Union high school. The date for this program has not been definitely set.

Another program is also being planned by the local high school International club for the present term. Spain will be the topic of the first of these programs.

The International club program committee is headed by Darrow Sutton. The other members of the committee are: Albert Schultz, J. McLean, Meredith Morgan, Bruno Roveda, Hazel Whalen, Ida Enfield, Elva Plouff and Helen Dunning.

CARNERA BEATS OWENS IN SECOND

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 6.—UP—Primo Carnera, the amazing Italian heavyweight who has captured the imagination of the American fight public as no boxer since Jack Dempsey, won his third bout in this country tonight, knocking out "Cowboy" Owens in the second round of a scheduled 10 round bout.

The end came after 2.35 seconds of the second round, the chief surprise of the evening being the fact that the Oklahoma heavyweight lasted throughout the first heat.

Owens, who tipped the beam at 220, compared with Carnera's 276, was smiling at the end of the first round.

Owens had established a new American record by lasting one full session with the gondoller and the crowd of 75,000 capacity for the arduous cheered the Indian as he went to his corner.

Carnera whose purse was held up in Chicago last Friday because the flattened helpless E. Rieux in 47 seconds allowed his third American victim to last until the bell called to action for the second round.

Then the Italian began his barrage of lefts and rights and the cowboy paled and wilted under the fire, going down for the count at

Jack Sharkey Bout Planned

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—UP—Negotiations for a heavyweight bout with Jack Sharkey, American heavyweight champion, and the winner of the Jim Maloney—Al Friedman bout to be held here Wednesday, as opponents, were begun today by Eddie Mack, Boston promoter.

The bout, it was announced, was planned for the summer months.

Bear Mat Captain Has Busy Season

BERKELEY, Feb. 6—Edgar Nemir, Phi Beta Kappa student and captain of the University of California wrestling team, is one of the busiest men on the California campus this spring.

In addition to maintaining his high scholastic average and practicing for both the boxing and wrestling teams, Nemir works several afternoons a week in a Berkeley grocery store to help finance his way through college.

The wrestling captain won the unusual distinction of being elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the highest scholastic honor society in American universities in his junior year.

After 23 seconds of hammering, Owens solved the problem of staying at least a round with the Italian by diving into clinches and beating upon the barrel like ribs of his opponent.

If anything the Oklahoman had the better of the opening heat but when the second started it was obvious that Carnera had just been bidding his time.

Y Cagers To Meet Players Of S. F. Church

The Richmond Y. M. C. A. 120 pounders will oppose the Wesley Methodist five of San Francisco tonight in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Although eliminated from the Y. M. C. A. California competition Monday night by the Berkeley cagers, the Richmond athletes gave a fine exhibition of their prowess in that contest. The final score was 13 to 11. If the local boys can maintain that same playing standard tonight, the San Franciscans will probably return to their homes across the bay defeated. The Berkeley outfit was an unusually superior team, and it is expected that the Richmondites will not be afforded nearly so much trouble tonight as they met at the hands of the Berkeleyans.

Pursel Leads U. C. Basketball Team In Points Scored

BERKELEY, Feb. 6—Kent Pursel, forward, consistently the leading scorer this season for the University of California basketball team, reached the 100 mark in his season total against the Athens club Tuesday night in a non-conference game. To date Pursel has registered 42 field goals and 162400 Macdonald Ave. I will not free tosses for a total of exactly one hundred points. Wilson Tripp, forward, is second with 83 points, while Captain Perry Ten Eyck retains third place with 48.

S. O. QUINTETS PLAY GAME HERE

Roosevelt Junior high school gymnasium was the scene of a hardfought basketball game by two departments of the main offices of the Standard Oil company at 5:30 last night.

The accounting department after a hard struggle, proved their superiority over the yield department to the tune of 20-14.

Murdoch, flashy forward for the accounting department proved the individual star of the game sinking eight counters for a total of 16 points.

Gillard proved the main stand-by for the losers making five points.

The teams lined up as follows: Accounting department—(20)—Murdoch, 16, Nate 2, forwards; Jochins 2, center; Armstrong and Robinson, guards.

Yield department—(14)—Gillard 5, Rinell, 4, forwards; Bramsted 3, center; Spencer 2, and Marshall guards.

NOTICE

Having taken over my plant at the C. O. D. Cleaners & Dyers at 162400 Macdonald Ave. I will not free tosses for a total of exactly one hundred points. Wilson Tripp, forward, is second with 83 points, while Captain Perry Ten Eyck retains third place with 48.

1 & 2 Perfectly balanced, continuous center and side running strips give smooth road contact, make steering easier, and provide ample road contact that adds thousands of extra miles.

3 Scientific continuous encircling grooves give properly-placed resistance against side-skidding, on account of the extra thick treads, these grooves are so deep, that the tire retains its non-skid properties for practically the whole tire life.

4 & 5 Deep cross slots and "T" slots give greater traction, aid braking and prevent skidding.

6 Massive shoulder bars widen the tread and protect the tire against bumps, strains and wear on curves.

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

2946 Morgan Ave. Oakland, Cal. Nov. 19, 1929.

MR. FONG WAN
HBBR CO.

Dear Mr. Fong—
I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach trouble. With sharp, stabbing pains in the lower right side of my abdomen. The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a jump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat was returned to the mouth.

This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary. By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free from the terrible stabbing pains and the soreness over my Liver. My digested stomach has completely disappeared and I feel much lighter and more energetic than I have for years.

I am most happy to strongly recommend the herbs of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as prepared by you. Wishing you continued success and again thanking you for what you have done for me, I am Very cordially yours,
CYRIL MAW.

The Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring John Barrymore is based on this novel.

SYNOPSIS

General Crack, soldier of fortune, has routed the enemy and prepares to crown King Leopold emperor. The latter steals away from the camp, incognito, bent on seeing the Princess Eleanor, to whom he had once been affianced, and whom he had to yield up, for state reasons, to Crack, as the latter's price for entering the war. Gabor, a treacherous rascal dismissed from Crack's service, surprises Leopold and Eleanor at dawn, and receives two large diamonds as a bribe. He informs Crack, who has him gagged and shot, with Leopold a witness.

XIX

Leopold, lodged at last in the palace at Frankfurt, sent for Hensdorff, who, with other civilians, had painfully followed the progress of the victorious army.

"So, Sir, we arrive here at last!" said Hensdorff, grimly. "Nor have we been so long upon the road; Prince Christian has fulfilled his contract to the very letter."

"I have scarcely seen him, and not spoken to him," replied Leopold, hastily, "but every one shouts for him. I hear of nothing else. Count, at last I can breathe and think a little; since we left Limburg I have not had a second; all ways on the march, always on the alert."

Hensdorff did not answer.

"What," asked Leopold, desperately, "shall I do?"

"You will be crowned," said Hensdorff, quietly. "Then, I think,"

"She cursed me!" shivered Leopold. "I know she died cursing me;—and that's an ugly thing; two curses, Hensdorff; what about Christian, when he hears—eh?"

"One does hear," replied Leopold, with a rigid smile. "And there's another of them—Hensdorff; and what about him—what about Christian, when he hears—eh?"

"We must not think of that," said Hensdorff.

"And for her," demanded Leopold, passionately; "must we not think of her? Is there nothing to be said or done there?"

"Nothing."

LEOPOLD knelt before the Papal Legate; his purple mantle lined with ermine hung from his shoulders down the gilded steps. He held in one hand the heavy sceptre, and in the other the glassing globe; the Imperial signet ring was on his finger, and he was girded with Caesar's Imperial sword; on his head was the Ducal bonnet of Austria.

The old cardinal, bent beneath the weight of vestments that were as heavy as any warrior's cuirass, held above the young man's blond head the diadem of Saint Leopold. He was then able to move, and with his heavy robe held up by pages, mount the steps which led to the Imperial Throne, arranged on the right of the altar, beneath a canopy that gleamed with golden eagles.

Leopold glanced round. His blue eyes flickered, from one to the other, caring for none of them; looking for one face only in all that gathered press. Near the steps of the throne he found it—the face of Christian of Kurland, rigid in his mantle over his uniform, with his hand under his arm. And, as Leopold gazed down at him, he gazed up at Leopold; for the first time since that day when Gabor had been shot in the bare field outside Limburg, the glance of these two men met.

Leopold drew back almost imperceptibly into the gorgeous recesses of his throne, and Christian, without moving a muscle, continued to gaze at him.

He sat stiffly on the throne while the involved ceremonial worked to its splendid conclusion.

As the Latin chiasm continued to rise and fall on that still, incense-sweetened air, he slowly turned his head again and looked down at that group of nobles to his right; and there was General Crack, still looking at him, with no expression at all, but with an unblinking steadiness.

Again Leopold had to show himself to the men who had chosen him. The Papal Legate took him by the hand, and led him to the front of the altar, and made the gesture of presenting him to his Electors.

Three times they shouted for him, with a continuous and steady voice; but Leopold did not heed these shouts. He looked at one man only: Christian; and that man did not open his lips, but remained with folded arms, listening and watching, silent, while the others gave their steady acclamations.

Leopold put his hand to his throat, where the gold cords that held his mantle tugged hard at his neck.

In silence he allowed himself to be disrobed, only giving a light sigh as the portentous mantles were lifted from his tired shoulders. At the best of the mantles, sparkling and resplendent cavalcade that Europe could produce, he rode through the streets of Frankfurt, with the man who had not acclaimed him by his side, and a train of princes behind.

Leopold turned to speak to the man who rode so silently beside him.

HOUSE TO ACT ON DRY LAW TODAY

that "common sense compels us to realize that grave abuses have occurred" in prohibition enforcement. "In each succeeding speech," Wagner said, "the problem of the abuses of prohibition shrank in Hoover's estimation."

Most Difficult
On the house floor, Chairman Williamson of the house expenditures committee which drafted the prohibition transfer bill said dry-law enforcement was "the most difficult problem" confronting President Hoover today.

"A considerable body of men of position and influence are openly preaching the doctrine of nullification," he said. "Nullification is closely akin to rebellion, and rebellion means war."

Chairman Snell of the rules committee, one of the house leaders who are pushing the bill, said the merits of prohibition were not involved. The bill is designed to improve enforcement, he said, declining to say whether present conditions are bad or good when a wet questioner tried to make his statement an admission that improvement is necessary.

Debate Limited
The house adopted Snell's special rule limiting general debate on the bill to four hours.

Prohibition enforcement changes have been few since the Volstead act. Two or three laws have extended the powers of the treasury prohibition agents, and the Jones "Five-and-Ten" law merely increased the seriousness of the crime. Every measure adopted since the Volstead law has extended the scope of prohibition. None has limited the activities of agents. Most limitations on enforcement were imposed by the courts under the constitution.

Dean Pound, accompanied by Chairman Wickersham of the commission, appeared before the house judiciary committee. Like Senator Wagner in the senate, he had a long list of constitutional authorities to cite in favor of his side. He talked for more than two hours, asserting among other things that the commission was composed of "conservative lawyers who have no thought of interfering with trial by jury." He disclaimed that the commission intended to avoid trial by jury in dry-law cases in order to get more convictions.

Pound will continue his testimony tomorrow and Chairman Wickersham also will testify.

20 Arrested In Plot On Rubio Life

ers hurt, none was in serious condition. The president's chauffeur, Felix Galvan, was cut on the head by glass, and three bystanders sustained minor wounds.

Doctors issued a bulletin at 5 p. m. saying they had changed the dressing on Rubio's wound at 10 a. m. It was learned reliably but unofficially that the "change of dressing" included a second operation on the president's jaw. Rubio was given an anesthetic so that a splintered bone might be removed from the jaw.

Roundup Made
Police today had rounded up 20 persons suspected as possible accomplices in the shooting and continued to hunt for more. It was understood those arrested included a Senator Rivera alleged to have been secretary for a women's club backing one of Rubio's opponents for the presidency in the November election.

Asked who his parents were, his residence and his motives, Flores answered evasively.

It was said on reliable authority that Flores was transferred late today from the city garrison where he had been questioned overnight, to the Santiago Tlaloloco military prison near Valbuena flying field outside Mexico City. The prison has been the scene of many executions.

The finding of an image of the Virgin of Guadalupe among Flores' possessions at first led to belief the man belonged to the "Cristos" or religious rebels who opposed the country's attitude toward the Catholic church up to a year ago. Jose De Leon Torral, the young artist who assassinated President-elect Alvaro Obregon in July, 1928, shared in the Cristero movement.

Mexico Quiet
But images of the Guadalupe Virgin are common, and Flores' possession of one need not indicate Cristero leanings, police said.

It was learned Flores registered at an inexpensive hotel Monday as being from Leon, state of Guanajuato.

Mexico was reported generally quiet today. It was announced the official social program connected with the inauguration would be carried out with the exception of the president's reception to diplomats.

A steady stream of distinguished persons called at the president's house today, and many telegrams and cablegrams were received congratulating Ortiz Rubio on his narrow escape.

Newell was arrested following a collision between his car and a machine driven by Mrs. Opal Gardner, 1249 Burnett street, San Pablo, and Ashby avenues, Berkeley, Wednesday night.

3 Vallejo Men Face Rum Count

OAKLAND, Feb. 6.—(U.P.)—Preliminary hearing of three Vallejo men accused of violating prohibition laws will be held before a United States commissioner here Friday.

They were arraigned today and released on $1500 bail each. The men, George Wallace, Charles Murphy and David Beronio, were arrested in Vallejo Wednesday. Officers claimed they found 23 pints of whiskey and 401 quarts of beer.

LOST AVIATORS BELIEVED DAZED

One wing, he thought, touched the ground and the craft looped.

Deckard said there was evidence that Eielson and Borland might have crawled through a hole in the top of the cabin and then wandered about bewildered and until they succumbed to the extreme cold and exhaustion.

Similar Accident
He cited a parallel incident of an Ohio pilot who crashed and did not know of his actions during the next hour. He did not recover fully for four months, Deckard said.

A new theory as to the reason that the altimeter indicator was at the 1000 foot mark was given by Deckard. It was that the impact of the crash jarred the needle up and it froze at the high point.

Eielson disappeared when he left Teller Nov. 9 to give assistance to sailors on the Namuk. He had made a previous trip and he knew the region well. A dense fog came up, however, and he lost his way.

Wreckage Found
The wreckage of the plane was found more than two weeks ago by Joe Crosson, an associate of Eielson. Four planes with eight men and two dog teams went to the wreckage and dug in the snow for a number of days without finding an indication of what actually happened to Eielson and Borland.

Eielson became noted for his activities in connection with the Polar explorations of Sir Hubert Wilkins and was known as the ace of Alaskan aviators.
